Business as Mission: The Power of Business in the Kingdom of God " A great movement is beginning across the North America and around the world - the kingdom business or "business as mission" movement. I say this is a great movement not because it is large, but because I sense the hand of God in it and see a huge potential for impacting the world for Christ."Business as Mission is well outlined, concisely written, and easy to read. Mike Baer's dual background as pastor and businessman is well suited to writing this volume that is biblically sound, missiologically strategic, and accurate in elucidating the characteristics of kingdom business."Business as Mission" by Michael Baer discards the notion that business is strictly a secular activity. In this book Baer describes four aspects of a Kingdom business: Vocational, Intentional, Relational, and Operational that can transform the business world..The first four describe a kingdom business as vocational, intentional, relational and operational. The final section shows what a Christian business executive can do to move toward having a kingdom business. "Vocational" means that business is an authentic calling from God. "Intentional" means that God has a unique purpose for each business.
