Ms. Kusturiss has been a Women's Health Nurse Practitioner for over 10 years with a primary focus in women's sexual pain and dysfunction and has specialized in pelvic and vulvar pain, interstitial cystitis, and sexual dysfunction since becoming part of the Center for Pelvic Medicine. Pelvic floor dysfunction usually leads to structural alterations in all compartments of the female pelvis. In advanced cases, with involvement of more than one compartment, accurate identification of all structures is essential to surgical planning and success. Clinical diagnosis may be difficult so an examination that provides a wide and simultaneous evaluation of all pelvic regions is highly ...Elizabeth B. Kemper.
